How to cite this document (a suggested style): "Heraññakani" (Thag 2.13), translated from the Pali by Thanissaro Bhikkhu. Changes: Presentation only: original HTML markup reflowed into plain text; wording, numbering and source repetitions retained. No repetitions expanded.

Completeness: ABBREVIATED. Every source-unit character is preserved, including introductions, notes and verse structure. Thanissaro's collection-level note explicitly states that repetitions were cut: https://www.dhammatalks.org/suttas/about.html. This is evidence about the translation method, not an assertion that every individual unit contains an omission; no repetitions reconstructed.

Text

Heraññakani (Thag 2.13) {Thag 145-146}

Days & nights fly past. Life comes to an end. The span of mortals runs out, like the water of a piddling stream. But the fool doing evil deeds doesn't realize that later it's bitter for him: evil for him the result.
